About the speakers:

Elly Dijk is senior policy advisor at Data Archiving and Networked Services (DANS) in the Netherlands. DANS is the national institute for long-term access to research data. She studied human geography at the University of Amsterdam. At DANS she is coordinator of the national scholarly open access portal NARCIS (narcis.nl). She is currently project leader of OpenAIRE 2020 and OpenAIRE Advance at DANS, and she is, together with the Technical University Delft, the National Open Access Desk (NOAD) for these projects. DANS is coordinator of Research Data Management in OpenAIRE. She is also project coordinator of the EOSCpilot (European Open Science Cloud) at DANS. In the Netherlands, she is member of the National Platform Open Science, and is part of the editorial team of the website Openaccess.nl.

A computational linguist by training, Dr Marjan Grootveld is senior policy officer at Data Archiving and Networked Services (DANS). DANS is the Netherlands institute for permanent access to digital research resources.
Enabling the re-use of knowledge, information, and data is the common element in Marjans career, ranging from corporate knowledge management via red tape reduction in eGovernment to sustainable data management in academia. She advises knowledge institutes and research funders on data management policy and practice, provides data management support and training in EU projects including EUDAT, OpenAIRE Advance and EOSC-hub, and coaches attendants of the Research Data Netherlands Essentials 4 Data Support training.
